g.Gov. Warmoth Discusses President's Chances-Olcott Believes He Will Carry New York State.

L I believe, therefore, that it is the duty of every Republican to resist this attack upon the integrity of the party and upon our national institutions. Had the leaders of the Progressive party been successful in the Republican convention at Chicago, hen the Republican party, with all its past and present policies and achievements, would to them have been the exponent to the public of what was best for every interest in this country. But under the chagrin of defeat they now seek to tear the Republican party asunder and annihilate it. "Every manufacturer, every employer of labor must admit that the policies of the Republican party have been and are for his best interests. Every wage earner must admit that he has been better emand more prosperous under the olicia and administration of the Republican party than he ever was under any Democratic administration.

f great popularity. "A strong fight is to be made for the Republican electors in our state," said Mr. "There is every reason why cuisiana should be in the Taft column in November. The two greatest industries are sugar and rice. Democratic House forced through a bil placing sugar on the free list. is locked up for this session, but it is erfectly plain that if Wilson is elected sugar will be put on the free list."

Thinks New York Is for Taft. J. Van Vechten Olcott, former Congressman and now president of the Republicar Club, declared yesterday the claims of the Wilson and Roosevelt managers about New York State were absurd. He said his personal feeling was that Taft would carry the state by a substantial plurality. "I believe that Taft will get all the conservative votes of the Republican party," said Mr. Olcott, "and that a great many Democrats who believe in experlence rather than theory will also cast their votes for him. Roosevelt will prob ably get the Hearst vote. Hearst's supporters will not vote for Taft or Wilson with Roosevelt a candidate. If Roosevelt were not in the field they would be apt to vote the Democratic or the Socialistic ticket. In my opinion the conditions, in so far as greater New York City is concerned, are similar to those that existed in the Mayoralty election when Bannard. Gaynor and Hearst ran, except that the candidate for President will command there party votes than any candidate for Mayor could. In other words, Taft will be stronger than Bannard was. "A great dea! of talk is heard about he defection of the farmers in the upper part of the state, on account of the President's views in regard to reciprocity There is no doubt that many of the farmers feel strongly on that subject, but I think when it is considered that the P-ttate farmer is naturally a republican, he will neither vote for Wilson, with his tariff views, nor will he join a third Party, which cannot possibly be elected, and, therefore, by the time November comes he will vote as he has been doingthe straight Republican ticket.

"It seems to me that Mr. Roosevelt's Candidacy makes Republican victory in New York certain. Of course, the Profressives are claiming everything, but so did the supporters of Mr. Bryan in 1896 In that year supporters of Mr. Bryan Were declaring him elected in August, but the result of the vote in November showed that the great mass of the voters of the country still believed in the Con-stitution, and Mr. McKinley was elected."

provision need not necessarily be made Writing to Henry G. Wasson, chairman for voting for Presidential electors upon of the Pennsylvania Republican State I wish to state it to be my opinion that voting machines cannot be used for the election of state and county officers in cor junction with the use of paper ballots for Fresidential electors. The law permits voting in either of two ways. There is no adequate provision for a combined form, and any attempt to combine the two systems of voting at the same voting place would be highly confusing and probably impossible of performance. Either of the two methods of veting may be followed machines or official paper ballots but both methods cannot be followed at the same voting place. Committee, in regard to the uncertainty tors in that state. Chairman Hilles, of the national committee, calls William Flinn, the Roosevelt leader there, a sublimated boss.

Mr. Hilles tells Mr. Wasson that he had written to each of the candidates for Presidential electors asking him if he will east his vote for Taft and Sherman

Mr. Hilles's letter is as follows;

I cannot find that Mr. Flinn, since his return from the convention of the Third Term party, has taken any steps toward remedying the conditions with respect to the electoral ticket in Pennsylvania. As I told you in Washington, early in July, I regard the position he has taken as venterable.

t would, of course, be preferable to ve such space at the head of the col-in or at the beginning of the row, as voters will undoubtedly expect to find a spaces provided therefor in the most primer position. Mr. Film is a conspicuous leader in a party which has seceded from the Republican party, but which, if his pian should prevail, would solicit votes through the use of the title and emblem and candidates of the Republican party. He is the Pennsylvania representative of a party whose chief end is to bring about the defeat of President Taft and the impairment of the Republican party, and therefore his attempt to dictate to the Republicans in the matter of their electoral ticket is insolent and intolerable.

We have made a demand for candidates for electors whose names shall appear under the title and emblem of the Re-publican party, and under the names of the candidates of that party, and who anced by the courts.

Mr. Film's plan is to have the Republican ticket made up in part of Republicans and in part of those who have left the Republican party, with the un anxious to let it be known that the graft derstanding that later these electors efstanding that is to be determine for whom they will vote the plan, you would not know the probably a month after the election for Mr. Hency, than whom we have not until probably a month after the election whether your own vote would be counted for Mr. Taft or for Mr. Roosevelt.

This applies to the vote of every other nan who has been affiliated with the Republican party of Pennsylvania. Hence, seven hundred and fifty thousand men are to be denied an opportunity to vote for their candidate for the Presidency in the most important election since the Civil War, and why? Merely that Mr. Flinn may perpetuate his own leadership. The scheme him no other log to stand upon. There is no other motive. Touching on democracy, he said:

American democracy in its purity was intended to mean, and I believe does mean, something more than votins, something more than votins, something more than votins, something more than selecting officers. American democracy does not depend upon caste or creed or condition, upon race or color, upon wealth or poverty, upon success or failure. But unerringly it does depend upon the inner life of the individual citizen. It is an inspiration and an aspiration.

The historic Democratic party of America had its inspiration and its aspiration in the life and conduct of its great founder. It is time now to have a perfect concept of that Democracy, for in recent years we have divided ourselves into three classes, and the classification has been made not by the heart throbs of men, but by their social condition. We have those who are immeasurably rich and who are looking for more, and we have those who are unutterably poor and who are growing poorer. Between these extremes we have a great middle class, living well and reasonably content, except for the uncertainty of not knowing whether they are to rise into the first class or sink into the third.

becoming socialistic in theory if not in conduct. But whatever badges men may wear in America this year, whatever bailots they may cast and whatever battle cries they may utter, there are but three grades of citizens.

The first grade is made up of the favored few, their hangers on and their beneficiaries, who think the eagle is upon the dollar not as an emblem of liberty but as an emblem of power and who look upon government as an annex to their business affairs; these are they who in the last years of Republican misrule have turned the temple of constitutional treedom into a money changers' mart and lave made of the co-ordinate branches of the government obelsant lackeys of the dingling guines.

The second grade consists of those whose outlook upon life has been enlarged by the civilization under which we live, who have been taught by the school and the college, by the press and the magazine, who appreciate the good things of life, whose horizon has been increased.

These old-fashioned Democrats believe in making money, but they believe every dollar made should be so clean that an infant may cut its teeth upon it. And they hold that it is no part of government to boost one man and boot another.
